● // SANDY LANE, BARBADOS //

Recipe for rejuvenation: cocktails on Sandy Lane's seaside strands, hitting one of its three golf courses, ample spa treatments, and Anne Sémonin products, which combine anti-aging essential oils and trace elements.

● // THE LODGE AT DOONBEG, COUNTY CLARE, IRELAND //

This country retreat mixes rugged and refined: products from Burren Perfumery, the country's oldest; a wild Atlantic coast setting; and caviar facials.

● // THE CONNAUGHT, LONDON //

London's 1897 grande dame tackles another century with gracious accommodations, an Aman spa, and butler service. Equally indulgent: organic Bamford products.

● // FOUR SEASONS HOTEL FIRENZE, FIRENCE //

This Renaissance-era palazzo beckons travelers to unwind. Settle in and savor products from perfume master Lorenzo Villorresi, who crafts fragrances in his Via dei Bardi workshop.

● // THE CHATWAL, NEW YORK //

Art deco flourishes take center stage at The Chatwal, just off Times Square yet far from the madding crowd. Stealing the show in the powder room: Asprey's Purple Water line, a blend of essential oils with fresh citrus and spicy undertones.

● // INKATERRA MACHU PICCHU

PUEBLO HOTEL //

Inkaterra, with vistas over the Urubamba River, is a great base from which to explore Machu Picchu's ruins. Its artisanal, house-made product line soothes hike-weary guests with lemongrass, local plants, clays, and fragrant herbs.

● // THE UPPER HOUSE, HONG KONG //

Architect Andre Fu has crafted an urban sanctuary that pairs natural materials with luxe details and cutting-edge artwork – an ethos that extends to the superclean, synthetic-free REN products in rooms.

● // COWORTH PARK, ASCOT, ENGLAND //

The latest from the Dorchester Collection is an elegant escape from London. Take in a polo match, enjoy an afternoon at the spa, or simply relax in the garden. Coworth Park's all-natural bath-and-body products are crafted by English farm growers Mitchell and Peach.

● // PARK HYATT PARIS-VENDÔME //

Designed by architect Ed Tuttle, this rue de la Paix hotel's rooms and suites mix cutting-edge conveniences with rich fittings and elegant materials. Parisian perfumer Blaise Mautin created the hotel's toiletries and developed a fragrance exclusively for the property.
