

An aerial photograph of the ancient Inca city of Machu Picchu, showing the stone ruins of buildings and terraces built on a mountain ridge. In the background, a massive, jagged rock formation rises steeply against a blue sky with scattered white clouds. The surrounding landscape is lush and green.

EL MAPÍ

HOTEL MACHU PICCHU
byInkaterra

Smart and contemporary are the defining elements of this hotel, amidst the tourist village of Machu Picchu, Aguas Calientes.

The hotel is efficient, playful and people friendly; it welcomes a wide range of guests expecting an uncomplicated visit.

"The 48 rooms, cafeteria and bar introduce an uncluttered, almost Scandinavian functionality to the Peruvian cloud forest, while its outdoor thermal pool and gardens soften the blow for any guests daunted by a climb to the ruins."

The Financial Times - UK
February 2011

check-in 1pm

11am check-out

Express check-out is available

reception 24/7

25 Most Romantic Dream Trips

Travel+Leisure
February 2011

Certificate of Excellence
2011 - 2012 - 2013

Trip Advisor

"This hotel is wonderful. I can recommend it to my friends. Gracias."

"Very lovely hotel. I would highly recommend it to anyone staying in Machu Picchu Peblo."

"Todo estuvo excelente, superó mis expectativas. Éxitos. Los recomendaremos a otros."

"Wonderful experience, best hotel we have had in Peru!"

"I very much enjoyed my stay at your hotel. The staff was very friendly and the rooms were very clean and comfortable."

Guest Comments
2012

"Inkaterra has opened its fourth Peruvian hotel in Aguas Calientes, the village below Machu Picchu. El MaPi is the first hotel from the more affordable "byInkaterra" arm of the brand. With the same eco-credentials and eye-catching design, prices will be at the more manageable end of the spectrum..."

Travel Weekly
May 2010

