

Inkaterra Hacienda Urubamba named amongst the 'Best Hotels on the Planet' by Travel and Leisure

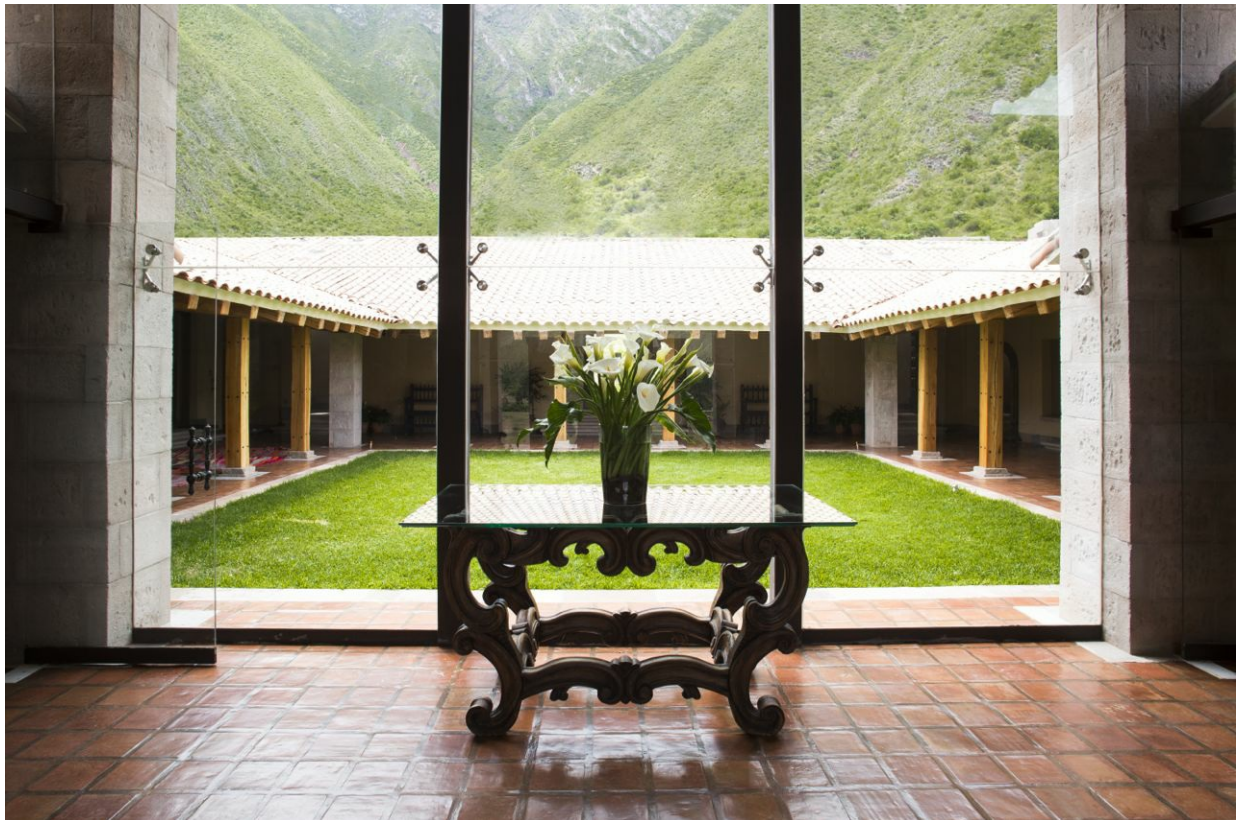

We're delighted to announce that Inkaterra Hacienda Urubamba has been named on of the 'Best New Hotels on the Planet' in the 11th edition of Travel + Leisure's 'It List'.

The hotels on the 'It List' are named by the editors of Travel and Leisure, and are celebrated for their killer locations, impeccable design and the ability to bring something totally new to the table.

At Inkaterra Hacienda Urubamba, we offer travellers the opportunity to stay in luxury accommodation, whilst providing a truly authentic experience. In fact, the hacienda has been recognised for its homage to Andean craftsmanship and distinctive, signature excursions.

Denise Guislain, our Design and Quality director, brought the property to life with exposed eucalyptus beams, handmade furniture and custom-created ceramics. Denise sourced precious pre-Columbian antiques, and the finest Andean furniture, to create a home that reflects the lush surroundings of the Sacred Valley.

In addition to the stellar design, our on-property excursions and off-the-beaten-track adventures around the area's ancient ruins enhance each traveller's Andean experience. Exploration of the forested countryside, surrounding mountains and tours of nearby ruins like Ollantaytambo are accompanied by a visit to the hotel's 10-acre farm, where you can try your hand at harvesting lima beans and medicinal herbs through the 'Earth to Table' initiative.

For more information, or for more pictures of the beautiful Inkaterra Hacienda Urubamba, please click here.