INKATERRA: GUESTS' PERSPECTIVES – INKATERRA HACIENDA URUBAMBA

Set in the awe-inspiring mountainous countryside and boasting unparalleled valley views spanning over one-hundred acres between Cusco and Machu Picchu, Inkaterra Hacienda Urubamba offers the unique luxury allowing guests to be immersed entirely in relaxation and tranquility. Guests are invited to unwind in ample rooms or casita-style accommodation which embrace the history of the Sacred Valley of the Incas through architecture and interior design. From bespoke handcrafted woodwork to Inca masks which blend in amongst colonial furniture, the lodge complements the plantation's local charm by providing guests with an authentic introduction to Peru. This is further exemplified through our unique Earth to Table experience which demonstrates our mission to be pioneers of sustainable tourism. Operating within a ten-acre span, guests at Inkaterra Hacienda Urubamba are given the opportunity to pick their own products, in the traditional manner, from a range of carbon-free crops such as quinoa, giant corn and potatoes, as well as native aromatic and medicinal plants. Through the incorporation of customary practices, architecture and design, plus inimitable open spaces and serenity, the hotel/ lodge provides an incomparable experience along with a sense of purity, synonymous with Peru.
