NEWSROOM

Darmstadt, 29 March 2019

At various locations around the world, lights are switched off during Earth Hour from 8:30-9:30 pm local time, in order to set an example for climate protection. Many of the Green Pearls® partners will be taking part on March 30, 2019. Earth Hour was launched by the environmental organization WWF 13 years ago to draw attention to global warming and to demand more climate protection. In the past 12 years, more than 35,000 companies and millions of individuals have taken part in the campaign.

On Saturday it will be dark for an hour in Schwerin at lake Ziegelsee when the climate-positive Hotel Speicher am Ziegelsee switches off all exterior lighting. The eco-resort Wild Mahseer is also taking part in the climate protection campaign and turns off the lights in several bungalows. In Bad Herrenalb lights go out in several places at the same time: The Fairtrade City switches off the exterior lighting of the church Klosterkirche, St. Bernhard's Church and the Klosterscheuer. Hotel SCHWARZWALD PANORAMA is also taking part in the campaign and it's getting dark at the hotel's restaurant La Vie for an hour. Instead, candles made of recycled wax will light up the place.

The Thai eco-resort Keemala serves traditional dishes with ingredients from its own organic garden during a candlelight dinner. On this occasion, they also introduce guests to old cooking methods that do not require electricity, such as grilling instead of traditional cooking. There is a similar offer at Hotel Grafenast in Tyrol: on "Earth Evening" guests can enjoy candlelight and pizza from the wood stove prepared without electricity.

This year, the Inkaterra Group has joined the Earth Hour campaign of WWF Peru and is organizing various activities: At the resorts Inkaterra Machu Picchu Pueblo and Inkaterra Reserva Amazónica, schoolchildren learn more about climate protection and symbolically plant trees. The Inkaterra Reserva Amazónica also organizes a River Clean Up on the banks of Madre de Dios, where employees, the schoolchildren and volunteer guests participate. A clean-up is also taking place on the property and in the surrounding region of Inkaterra Hacienda Urubamba. Here, the gardening team is planting new plants for the climate alike.
