Our green hotels: Simply outstanding

NEWSROOM

Our hotel partners are exceptional in many ways: They contribute to sustainability by preserving nature and supporting people on site. But also, the architecture of the Green Pearls® hotels is unique with sometimes even green facades like the Hotel Milano Scala in Milan or the Green City Hotel Vauban in Freiburg.

Instead of demolishing and building anew, our hoteliers invest in renovation and refurbishment focusing on upcycling. To spend a night in an environment rich in history is especially exciting! At the Inkaterra La Casona in Peru you live in a mansion from the 16th century that belonged to the army of the Inca, at the Wild Mahseer you sleep in buildings from the colonial era build by the British Assam Tea Company and the Bio-Agrivilla i pini accommodates you in a villa from the High Renaissance dating back to the early 16th century.

Hotelier Ben Förtsch owner of the Creativhotel Luise also knows that demolishing and building new would probably have been more favorable, however, for him, sustainability takes center stage. With creativity and some upcycling projects, a lot of garbage could be saved – for example, a bridge made of old wooden beams or the plant throughs in the new patio that are made of former boilers.
