Jose Koechlin, founder and CEO of Inkaterra Hotels, talks with Alan Fine of Insider Travel Report about a misconception surrounding his eight five-star luxury hotels spread across Peru. Koechlin created the company to support the people, fauna and flora of his country. Fortunately, the hotels' restoration, design, cuisine and service came together in such a perfect way that they became popular and award-winning properties. This is the fourth and final video in a series about a trip to Peru made possible by LATAM Airlines, Inkaterra Hotels, Inca Rail, Canatur, Progatur, Municipalidad de Machu Picchu, and Camara de Comercio & Turismo de Machu Picchu. The trip was organized to help Peru attract visitors after the country was rocked by almost daily protests and roadblocks for more than two months in December 2022. Fortunately, those protests have abated so it's now quite safe for travelers to visit the country.
