

Do They Provide Boots For Excursions At Inkaterra Hotels?

Last updated: April 4, 2026 / Add comment / Sherri Eisenberg / 3 min read

Inkaterra hotels in Peru offer luxury eco-lodges and provide boots for excursions, although confirmation with the specific hotel is advisable. For instance, at the Inkaterra Machu Picchu Pueblo Hotel, guests can enjoy guided hikes and treks, with sturdy, waterproof hiking boots or shoes typically supplied for excursions, along with other necessary gear. It's recommended to ask about their boot policy in advance to avoid any concerns regarding footwear. Guests should also consider bringing a poncho or raincoat due to unpredictable weather.

Inkaterra's tours generally do not require flights and are known for being reasonably priced, making them appealing for luxury travelers. They supply rubber boots for excursions, and it's suggested to pack lightweight, long cotton pants and long-sleeved shirts, as well as a fleece and windbreaker for optimal comfort. If traveling between multiple destinations, packing light and only taking essentials is encouraged to enhance convenience. Taller socks and insoles can improve comfort when using provided rubber boots.

The hotels offer a variety of excursions upon request, such as the treetop canopy walkway. Access to Inkaterra Hacienda Concepción is only by boat, and the lodge provides free, clean boots for guests during their stay and treks. Personalized guiding may be arranged, especially during off-peak seasons. Inkaterra Reserva Amazonica features full-day excursions showcasing the Amazon's natural beauty, with options for diverse adventures based on guests' itineraries.

Visitors can explore a multitude of à-la-carte excursions, including a system of bridges at 30 meters high via the Inkaterra Canopy Walkway. For a more immersive experience, trips to Gamitana Creek offer a chance to discover the rainforest ecosystem. Inkaterra hotels are committed to sustainable hospitality while ensuring guests enjoy eco-friendly luxury, making their remote locations ideal for unique travels in Peru. The stays include organized excursions based on the duration of visit, enhancing the overall experience.

Useful Articles on the Topic

Article	Description	Site
A Peruvian Amazon Adventure	"These tours do not require any flights, and are generally quite reasonable in price. That said, if you are looking for a Peru luxury tour ..."	inkaterra.com
Inkaterra Reserva Amazonica Gift Shop: Pictures & Reviews	"... they serve, and the excursions they offer, are incredible. We flew in to ... or TVs; they size/give you rubber boots to wear on the excursions; and ..."	tripadvisor.com
- Traveler's Guide -	"If your itinerary includes multiple destinations, we recommend packing light and bringing only the essentials for greater convenience. Baggage Limits in the ...Read more10 pages"	inkaterra.com

Staying Deep in the Amazon Rainforest in the Inkaterra Amazonica Resort

Peru Vlog 1 - Staying Deep in the Amazon Rainforest in the Inkaterra Amazonica Resort Hey  Travel Lover This is our ... Travel & Transportation

Inkaterra Reserva Amazonica Eco-Lodge Tour Puerto Maldonado, Peru

This video follows a journey to the Inkaterra Reserva Amazonica Eco-Lodge in Puerto Maldonado, Peru. The lodge is located in a vast private ecological reserve and features open-air wooden cabanas. The video highlights the lodge's commitment to sustainability and the opportunity to immerse oneself in the beauty of the Amazon rainforest.

